A WORD TO BOYS.

Our young friend, did you ever know—can you call to mind a single case of a person, who, having his own way to make in the world, spent his time on the street or in any other form of idleness or dissipation, to succeed in an eminent degree in any enterprise? Look over your list of friends and acquaintances and note their course. Do you not find upon examination that those who today are men of influence and honor, were the youths who made the most of valuable time, turning it to good account? And, on the other hand, do you not find that those who stood on the corners with a pipe or cigar in their mouths, went from bad to worse, from worse to ruin? Sadly must the answer be made—oh, that it were not so—they have failed. Will you profit by the experience of others? Go not that way. Never be idle. Every moment of your time is a golden one use it as such, improve the mind, fix your mind on some noble object; be men. The call is for men; will you not be one of that number who can say—"I am a man?"

HINTS FOR HUSBANDS.

When a man has established a home has a wife and children, the most important duties of his life have fairly begun. The errors of his youth may be obliterated, the faults of his early days may be overlooked; but from the moment of his marriage he commences to write an ineffable history; not by pen and ink, but by deeds by which he must ever afterward be reported and judged.

His conduct at home, his care for his family, the training of his children, his attentions to his wife, his devotion to the great interests of eternity these are tests by which his character will ever afterwards be estimated by those who think or care for him. These will determine his position while living and influence his memory when the grave has closed over him. And as he uses well or ill the brief space allotted to him, out of all eternity to establish a fame founded on the most solid foundations—private worth—so will God and man judge him. He holds in his hands the private weal and woe of his wife and children; and if he abuses his most holy, God-given trust, he cannot hope for mercy hereafter. Many a child goes astray, simply because home lacks sunshine. Many a wife esteems death her best friend, because he who swore before God to "love, honor and cherish," has forgotten its vows.

WHAT SHALL THAT BOY DO?

Who will tell the boy who reads this what he will do? When he becomes a man he will do many things. Will he write, and so be useful and helpful in speech, ready in communication and of strong influence? Say, my boy, what are you going to do? What you like to do now, you will be likely to do by-and-by. Do you swear now? Do you cheat, deceive, lie? Do you do dishonorable things? Are you disrespectful or do you obey your parents and teachers. Remember the boy makes the man. If the boy is bad the man will be. Fix it in your mind which it will be.

GOOD MANNERS.

Young folks should be mannerly. How to be so is the question. Many a girl and boy feel as though they do not behave to suit themselves in company. They feel timid, bashful, and self-distrustful, the moment they are addressed by a stranger or appear in company. There is but one way to get over this feeling, and acquire easy and graceful manners; that is, to do the best they can at home, as well as abroad. Good manners are not learned by teaching so much as an acquired habit. They grow upon us by use. We must be courteous, kind, civil, gentlemanly and womanly at home, and then it will become a kind of second nature to be so elsewhere. A course, rough manner at home begets a bit of roughness which we cannot lay off when we go among strangers. The most agreeable people we have ever known in company are those who are perfectly agreeable at home. Home is the school for all good things especially for good manners.

CORRECT SPEAKING.

One of the most pleasing things in young people is the habit of correct speaking. Let us advise all our young readers to acquire it in early life. The longer you live the more difficult the requirement of correct language is; and if the golden age of youth, the proper season for the acquisition of language is passed in abuse, the unfortunate victim, if neglected, is very properly doomed to talk slang all his life. Money is not necessary to procure this education. Every one has it in his power. He has merely to use the language which he hears, to form his tastes from the best poets and authors of the country, to treasure up choice phrases in his memory, and habituate himself to their use, avoiding at the same time, that pedantic precision and bombast which show the weakness of vain ambition rather than the polish of an educated mind.

YEA, 'TIS SO.

Beauty in dress is a good thing, but it is a lower beauty, for which a higher beauty should not be sacrificed. They love dress too much who give it their first thought, their best time, or all their money; who for it neglect the culture of mind or heart, or the claims of others on their service; who care more for their dress than their disposition; who are troubled more by an unfashionable bonnet than a neglected duty.
